CONCERN OVER VILLAGE INEQUALITY

Vicki,

I really do not know how we as a community can address this issue.

I have been carrying out the annual poppy day collection and this year it was particularly noticeable how our village has lots of big houses where the residents appear to be able to have a high, or at least good, standard of living whilst some others within our community are experiencing real difficulties in meeting their financial commitments.

We have a book bank but I wonder if we should replace it with a food bank. I know logistics is the issue and I really do not know if this is possible and how such a thing could be set up and run. Any ideas?

Could this be discussed at a future PC meeting please?
